C-130e flight manual-1

This text is a disclaimer stating that references to specific commercial products or manufacturers do not imply endorsement or affiliation. The same phrase is repeated throughout the pages, with no additional content. This article contains two separate sections: "Title 1" and "Title 2". Title 1 includes various flight manuals for the Lockheed C-130 Hercules, including US Navy and RAF (Royal Air Force) documents, covering topics such as navigation, operations, and maintenance. These manuals span from the 1960s to the late 1990s. Title 2 contains RAF pilot's notes and operating data manual for the Hercules C.Mk.1, W.Mk.2, and C.Mk.3, dated in the 1967 and 1983, respectively. Additionally, a US Coast Guard flight manual is included, covering the C-130 series (HC-130H), dated 2000 with revisions up to that year. The collection contains six titles of flight manuals for the Lockheed C-130 Hercules aircraft. Title 1 includes four separate manuals for different versions of the MC-130H, with approximately 913 pages in total. These manuals were revised at various times between 2001 and 2004. Title 2 consists of three manuals: one for the C-130B and SC-130B (623 pages), one for the AC-130H (827 pages), and a partial manual for the JC-130B and JC-130H (336 pages). The earliest manual in this title dates back to 1962. Title 3 contains four manuals: one for the C-130A (516 pages), one for the AC-130A (428 pages), one for the C-130J and CC-130J (918 pages), and a partial manual for the C-130AII (146 pages). The earliest manual in this title dates back to 1958. Title 4 includes three manuals: two for the EC-130G/Q (904 pages) and KC-130T/KC-130T and KC-130T-30 (913 pages), as well as a manual for the KC-130J (1032 pages). The earliest manual in this title dates back to 1975. Title 5 contains five manuals: one for the C-130B, HC-130B, and C-130E (650 pages), one performance data manual for the same aircraft (650 pages), a partial manual for the EC-130E (260 pages), a partial manual for the WC-130B and WC-130H (266 pages), and a final manual for unknown aircraft. The collection also includes several disclaimers about references to specific commercial products, indicating that these mentions are not endorsements or affiliations. The mention of a particular product or brand in this document does not signify an official connection or recommendation from us, and is solely used for illustrative purposes only.
